(MoU) for setting up the plant was signed in January this year between the Japanese company and Ahmedabad Municipal Corporation (AMC).

The plant has a capacity to process 800 metric tonnes of solid waste per day and obtain fuel by processing dry-waste and fertilisers from wet waste. According to an estimate, 720 metric tonnes of fuel and manure can be derived by processing around 800 mt of solid waste. The fuel can work as a substitute for coal, lignite, oil or other energy resources for industries, official sources said.

Useless waste of around 80 tonnes generated after scientific process would be dumped at six secured land fill sites at Gyaspur.

AMC has made long term planning for scientific disposal of solid waste taking into account the needs for next 36 years.
